

Taylor- January 2005

Meet Taylor! This young man loves being active, and enjoys participating in his school sports, including basketball, football and wrestling. His favorite sports are soccer and football. He enjoys playing outside as well as his time playing some video games inside. He wants to continue being involved in his community, especially when it comes to Bible study and youth group. You're looking at a future pastor in the making! He's described as happy, social, silly, and having a calm demeanor. He is good with other foster children and has been good and positive in helping them to adjust to a new environment. Taylor's new home will need to help him stay in contact with his biological mother and family. He's grown up and matured a great deal while in foster care. His new family should be structured and consistent, to help him continue growing and being active in his community.
