INTRODUCTION

THE CANS

The Child and Adolescent Needs and Strengths (CANS) is a multiple purpose information integration tool that is designed to be the output of an assessment process. The purpose of the CANS is to accurately represent the shared vision of the child/youth serving system—children, youth, and families. As such, completion of the CANS is accomplished in order to allow for the effective communication of this shared vision for use at all levels of the system. Since its primary purpose is communication, the CANS is designed based on communication theory rather than the psychometric theories that have influenced most measurement development. There are six key principles of a communimetric measure that apply to understanding the CANS.

SIX KEY PRINCIPLES OF THE CANS

1. Items were selected because they are each relevant to service/treatment planning. An item exists because it might lead you down a different pathway in terms of planning actions.
2. Each item uses a 4-level rating system. Those levels are designed to translate immediately into action levels. Different action levels exist for needs and strengths. For a description of these action levels please see below.
3. Rating should describe the youth, not the youth in services. If an intervention is present that is masking a need but must stay in place, this should be factored into the rating consideration and would result in a rating of an “actionable” need (i.e. ‘2’ or ‘3’).
4. Culture and development should be considered prior to establishing the action levels. Cultural sensitivity involves considering whether cultural factors are influencing the expression of needs and strengths. Ratings should be completed considering the child/youth’s developmental and/or chronological age depending on the item. In other words, anger control is not relevant for a very young child but would be for an older child or a youth regardless of developmental age. Alternatively, school achievement should be considered within the framework of expectations based on the youth’s developmental age.
5. The ratings are generally “agnostic as to etiology.” In other words, this is a descriptive tool; it is about the “what” not the “why.” Only two items, Adjustment to Trauma and Intentional Misbehavior, have any cause-effect judgments.
6. A 30-day window is used for ratings in order to make sure assessments stay “fresh” and relevant to the child/youth’s present circumstances. However, the action levels can be used to over-ride the 30-day rating period.

HISTORY AND BACKGROUND OF THE CANS

The CANS is a multi-purpose tool developed to support care planning and level of care decision-making, to facilitate quality improvement initiatives, and to allow for the monitoring of outcomes of services. The CANS was developed from a communication perspective in order to facilitate the linkage between the assessment process and the design of individualized service plans including the application of evidence-based practices.

The CANS gathers information on a child/youth’s and parents’/caregivers’ needs and strengths. Strengths are the child/youth’s assets: areas of life where they are doing well or have an interest or ability. Needs are areas where a child/youth requires help or serious intervention. Care providers use an assessment process to get to know the child or youth and families with whom they work and to understand their strengths and needs. The CANS helps care providers decide which of a child/youth’s needs are the most important to address in treatment or service planning. The CANS also helps identify strengths, which can be the basis of a treatment plan. By working with the child/youth and family during the assessment process and talking together about the CANS, care providers can develop a treatment or service plan that addresses a child/youth’s strengths and needs while building strong engagement.

The CANS is made up of domains that focus on various areas in a child/youth’s life, and each domain is made up of a group of specific items. There are domains that address how the child/youth functions in everyday life, on specific emotional or behavioral concerns, on risk behaviors, on strengths and on skills needed to grow and develop. There is also a section that asks about the family's beliefs, preferences, and about general family concerns. The provider, in collaboration with the child/youth and family, gives a number rating to each of these items. These ratings help the provider, child/youth and family understand where intensive or immediate action is most needed, and also where a child/youth has assets that could be a major part of the treatment or service plan.

The CANS ratings, however, do not tell the whole story of a child/youth's strengths and needs. Each section in the NV-CANS is merely the output of a comprehensive assessment process and is documented alongside narratives, developed by the care provider, child/youth and family that can provide more information about the child/youth.

HISTORY

The Child and Adolescent Needs and Strengths grew out of John Lyons' work in modeling decision-making for psychiatric services. To assess appropriate use of psychiatric hospital and residential treatment services, the Childhood Severity of Psychiatric Illness (CSPI) tool was created. This measure assesses those dimensions crucial to good clinical decision-making for intensive mental health service interventions and was the foundation of the CANS. The CSPI tool demonstrated its utility in informing decision-making for residential treatment (Lyons, Mintzer, Kisiel & Shallcross, 1998) and for quality improvement in crisis assessment services (Lyons, Kisiel, Dulcan, Chesler & Cohen, 1997; Leon, Uziel-Miller, Lyons & Tracy, 1998). The strength of this measurement approach has been that it has face validity and is easy to use, while providing comprehensive information regarding clinical status.

The CANS assessment builds upon the methodological approach of the CSPI, but expands the assessment to include a broader conceptualization of needs and an assessment of strengths – both of the child/youth and the parent/caregiver, looking primarily at the 30-day period prior to completion of the CANS. It is a tool developed with the primary objective of supporting decision making at all levels of care: children, youth and families, programs and agencies, child serving systems. It provides structured communication and critical thinking about the child/youth and their context. The CANS is designed for use either as a prospective assessment tool for decision support and recovery planning or as a retrospective quality improvement device demonstrating an individual's progress. It can also be used as a communication tool that provides a common language for all child-serving entities to discuss the child/youth's needs and strengths. A review of the case record in light of the CANS assessment tool will provide information as to the appropriateness of the recovery plan and whether individual goals and outcomes are achieved.

Annual training and certification is required for providers who administer the CANS and their supervisors. Additional training is available for CANS super users as experts of CANS assessment administration, scoring, and use in the development of service or recovery plans.

MEASUREMENT PROPERTIES

Reliability

Strong evidence from multiple reliability studies indicates that the CANS can be completed reliably by individuals working with children/youth and families. A number of individuals from different backgrounds have been trained and certified to use the CANS assessment reliably including health and mental health providers, child welfare case workers, probation officers, and family advocates. With approved training, anyone with a bachelor's degree can learn to complete the tool reliably, although some applications or more complex versions of the CANS require a higher educational degree or relevant experience. The average reliability of the CANS is 0.78 with vignettes across a sample of more than 80,000 trainees. The reliability is higher (0.84) with case records, and can be above 0.90 with live cases (Lyons, 2009). The CANS is auditable and audit reliabilities demonstrate that the CANS is reliable at the item level (Anderson et al., 2001). Training and certification with a reliability of at least 0.70 on a test case vignette is required for ethical use. In most jurisdictions, re-certification is annual. A full discussion on the reliability of the CANS assessment is found in Lyons (2009) Communimetrics: A Communication Theory of Measurement in Human Service Settings.

Validity

Studies have demonstrated the CANS' validity, or its ability to measure children/youth and their caregiver's needs and strengths. In a sample of more than 1,700 cases in 15 different program types across New York State, the total scores on the relevant dimensions of the CANS-Mental Health retrospectively distinguished level of care (Lyons, 2004). The CANS assessment has also been used to distinguish needs of children in urban and rural settings (Anderson & Estle, 2001). In numerous jurisdictions, the CANS has been used to predict service utilization and costs, and to evaluate outcomes of clinical interventions and programs (Lyons, 2004; Lyons & Weiner, 2009; Lyons, 2009). Five independent research groups in four states have demonstrated the reliability and validity of decision support algorithms using the CANS (Chor, et al., 2012, 2013, 2014; Cordell, et al., 2016; Epstein, et al., 2015; Israel, et al., 2015; Lardner, 2015).

RATING NEEDS & STRENGTHS

The CANS is easy to learn and is well liked by children, youth and families, providers and other partners in the services system because it is easy to understand and does not necessarily require complex scoring or calculations in order to be meaningful to the youth and family.

- ✦ Basic core items – grouped by domain - are rated for all individuals.
- ✦ A rating of ‘1’, ‘2’ or ‘3’ on key core questions triggers extension modules.
- ✦ Individual assessment modules provide additional questions for information in a specific area.

Each CANS rating suggests different pathways for service planning. For the majority of items, there are four levels of rating with specific anchored definitions. These item level descriptions are designed to translate into the following action levels (separate for needs and strengths):

Basic Design for Rating Needs

Rating	Level of Need	Appropriate Action
0	No evidence of need	No action needed
1	Significant history or possible need that is not interfering with functioning	Watchful waiting/prevention/additional assessment
2	Need interferes with functioning	Action/intervention required
3	Need is dangerous or disabling	Immediate action/Intensive action required

Basic Design for Rating Strengths

Rating	Level of Strength	Appropriate Action
0	Centerpiece strength	Central to planning
1	Strength present	Useful in planning
2	Identified strength	Build or develop strength
3	No strength identified	Strength creation or identification may be indicated

The rating of ‘N/A’ for ‘not applicable’ is available for a few items under specified circumstances (see reference guide descriptions). For those items where the ‘N/A’ rating is available, it should be used only in the rare instances where an item does not apply to that particular youth or child.

For some items (i.e., Potentially Traumatic/Adverse Childhood Experiences), rating options are No/Yes. There is a rating guide provided that describes ‘No’ and ‘Yes’ ratings, and each item also has more detailed anchor descriptions for those levels.

To complete the NV-CANS, a CANS-trained and certified care coordinator, case worker, clinician, or other care provider should read the anchor descriptions for each item and then record the appropriate rating on the NV-CANS form (or electronic record).

Remember that the item anchor descriptions are examples of circumstances which fit each rating ('0', '1', '2', or '3'). The descriptions, however, are not inclusive. The rater must consider the basic meaning of each level to determine the appropriate rating on an item for an individual.

Ratings of '1', '2, or '3' on key core items trigger additional questions in the individualized assessment modules: Substance Use, Sexual Identity, Developmental Disabilities, Dangerousness, Sexually Aggressive Behaviors, Problematic Sexual Behavior, Runaway, and Juvenile Justice.

There are also two age-related domains. The Early Childhood Domain is to be completed for all children aged 0-6. The Transition to Adulthood Domain is to be completed for all youth aged 14+ or younger youth with transition-relevant issues.

The CANS is an information integration tool, intended to include multiple sources of information (e.g., child/youth and family, referral source, treatment providers, school, and observation of the rater). As a strength-based approach, the CANS supports the belief that children, youth and families have unique talents, skills, and life events, in addition to specific unmet needs. Strength-based approaches to assessment and service or treatment planning focus on collaborating with children/youth and their families to discover individual and family functioning and strengths. Failure to demonstrate a child/youth's skill should first be viewed as an opportunity to learn the skill as opposed to the problem. Focusing on a child/youth's strengths instead of weaknesses with their families may result in enhanced motivation and improved performance. Involving the family and the child/youth in the rating process and obtaining information (evidence) from multiple sources is necessary and improves the accuracy of the rating. Meaningful use of the CANS and related information as tools (for reaching consensus, planning interventions, monitoring progress, psychoeducation, and supervision) support effective services for children/youth and families.

As a quality improvement activity, a number of settings have utilized a fidelity model approach to look at service/treatment/action planning based on the CANS assessment. A rating of '2' or '3' on a CANS need suggests that this area must be addressed in the service or treatment plan. A rating of a '0' or '1' identifies a strength that can be used for strength-based planning and a '2' or '3' a strength that should be the focus on strength-building activities. It is important to remember that when developing service and treatment plans for healthy child/youth trajectories, balancing the plan to address risk behaviors/needs and protective factors/strengths is key. It has been demonstrated in the literature that strategies designed to develop child/youth capabilities are a promising means for development, and play a role in reducing risky behaviors.

Finally, the CANS can be used to monitor outcomes. This can be accomplished in two ways. First, CANS items that are initially rated a '2' or '3' are monitored over time to determine the percent of individuals who move to a rating of '0' or '1' (resolved need, built strength). Dimension scores can also be generated by summing items within each of the domains (Behavioral/Emotional Needs, Risk Behaviors, Life Functioning, etc.). These scores can be compared over the course of treatment. CANS dimension/domain scores have been shown to be valid outcome measures in residential treatment, intensive community treatment, foster care and treatment foster care, community mental health, and juvenile justice programs.

The CANS is an open domain tool that is free for anyone to use with training and certification. There is a community of people who use the various versions of the CANS and share experiences, additional items, and supplementary tools.

HOW IS THE CANS USED?

The CANS is used in many ways to transform the lives of children, youth and their families and to improve the programs and systems that serve them. This guide will help you to also use the CANS as a multi-purpose tool.

IT IS AN ASSESSMENT STRATEGY

When initially meeting children/youth and their caregivers, this guide can be helpful in ensuring that all the information required is gathered. Most items include "Questions to Consider" which may be useful in when asking about needs and strengths. These are not questions that must be asked, but are available as suggestions. Many care providers have found this useful to use during initial sessions either in person or over the phone (if there are follow up sessions required) to get a full picture of needs before treatment or service planning and beginning therapy or other services.

IT GUIDES CARE AND TREATMENT/SERVICE PLANNING

When an item on the CANS is rated a '2' or '3' ('action needed' or 'immediate action needed') it indicates not only that it is a serious need for our child/youth, but one that we are going to attempt to work on during the course of our treatment. As such, when you write your treatment plan, you should do your best to address any Needs, Impacts on Functioning, or Risk factors that you rate as a '2' or higher in that document.

IT FACILITATES OUTCOMES MEASUREMENT

The CANS is often completed every 6 months to measure change and transformation. We work with children, youth and families and their needs tend to change over time. Needs may change in response to many factors including quality clinical support provided. One way we determine how our supports are helping to alleviate suffering and restore functioning is by re-assessing needs, adjusting treatment or service plans, and tracking change.

IT IS A COMMUNICATION TOOL

The CANS allows for a shared language to talk with and about our children/youth and their families, creating opportunities for collaboration. Additionally, when a child/youth leaves a treatment program, completing a closing CANS helps in describing progress, measuring ongoing needs, and supporting continuity of care decisions by linking recommendations for future care to current needs.

It is our hope that this guide will help you to make the most out of the NV-CANS and guide you in filling it out in an accurate way that helps you make good clinical decisions.

CANS: A STRATEGY FOR CHANGE

The CANS is an excellent strategy in addressing children/youth's behavioral health care. As it is meant to be an outcome of an assessment, it can be used to organize and integrate the information gathered from clinical interviews, records reviews, and information from screening tools and other measures.

It is a good idea to know the CANS and use the domains and items to help with your assessment process and information gathering sessions/clinical interviews with the child/youth and family. This will not only help the organization of your interviews, but will make the interview more conversational if you are not reading from a form. A conversation is more likely to give you good information, so have a general idea of the items. The CANS domains can be a good way to think about capturing information. You can start your assessment with any of the sections—Life Domain Functioning or Behavioral/Emotional Needs, Risk Behaviors or Strengths, or Caregiver Resources & Needs—this is your judgment call. Sometimes, people need to talk about needs before they can acknowledge strengths. Sometimes, after talking about strengths, then they can better explain the needs. Trust your judgment, and when in doubt, always ask, "We can start by talking about what you feel that you and your child/youth need, or we can start by talking about the things that are going well and that you want to build on. Do you have a preference?"

Some people may "take off" on a topic. Being familiar the CANS items can help in having more natural conversations. So, if the family is talking about situations around the youth's anger control and then shift into something like---"you know, he only gets angry when he is in Mr. S's classroom," you can follow that and ask some questions about situational anger, and then explore other school related issues.

MAKING THE BEST USE OF THE CANS

Children and youth have families involved in their lives, and their family can be a great asset to their treatment. To increase family involvement and understanding, it is important to talk to them about the assessment process and describe the CANS and how it will be used. The description of the CANS should include teaching the child/youth and family about the needs and strengths rating scales, identifying the domains and items, as well as how the actionable items will be used in treatment or serving planning. As a best practice, share with the child/youth and family the CANS domains and items (see the CANS Core Item list beginning on page 13) and encourage the family to look over the items prior to your meeting with them. The best time to do this is your decision—you will have a sense of the timing as you work with each family. Families often feel respected as partners when they are prepared for a meeting or a process. A copy of the completed CANS ratings should be reviewed with each family and they should be encouraged to discuss with you any changes to the ratings, and any items that they feel needs more or less emphasis.

LISTENING USING THE CANS

Listening is the most important skill that you bring to working with the CANS. Everyone has an individual style of listening. The better you are at listening, the better the information you will receive. Some things to keep in mind that make you a better listener and that will give you the best information:

- ✦ Use nonverbal and minimal verbal prompts. Head nodding, smiling and brief “yes”, “and”—things that encourage people to continue
- ✦ Be nonjudgmental and avoid giving person advice. You may find yourself thinking “if I were this person, I would do X” or “that’s just like my situation, and I did “X.” But since you are not that person, what you would do is not particularly relevant. Avoid making judgmental statements or telling them what you would do. It’s not really about you.
- ✦ Be empathic. Empathy is being warm and supportive. It is the understanding of another person from their point of reference and acknowledging feelings. You demonstrate empathetic listening when you smile, nod, maintain eye contact. You also demonstrate empathetic listening when you follow the person’s lead and acknowledge when something may be difficult, or when something is great. You demonstrate empathy when you summarize information correctly. All of this demonstrates to the child/youth that you are with him/her.
- ✦ Be comfortable with silence. Some people need a little time to get their thoughts together. Sometimes, they struggle with finding the right words. Maybe they are deciding how they want to respond to a question. If you are concerned that the silence means something else, you can always ask “does that make sense to you”? Or “do you need me to explain that in another way?”
- ✦ Paraphrase and clarify—avoid interpreting. Interpretation is when you go beyond the information given and infer something—in a person’s unconscious motivations, personality, etc. The CANS is not a tool to come up with causes. Instead, it identifies things that need to be acted upon. Rather than talk about causation, focus on paraphrasing and clarifying. Paraphrasing is restating a message very clearly in a different form, using different words. A paraphrase helps you to (1) find out if you really have understood an answer; (2) clarify what was said, sometimes making things clearer; and (3) demonstrate empathy. For example, you ask the questions about health, and the person you are talking to gives a long description. You paraphrase by saying “Ok, it sounds like . . . is that right? Would you say that is something that you feel needs to be watched, or is help needed?”

REDIRECT THE CONVERSATION TO PARENTS/CAREGIVERS’ OWN FEELINGS AND OBSERVATIONS

Often, people will make comments about other people’s observations such as “well, my mother thinks that his behavior is really obnoxious.” It is important to redirect people to talk about their observations: “so your mother feels that when he does X, that is obnoxious. What do YOU think?” The CANS is a tool to organize all points of observation, but the parent or caregiver’s perspective can be the most critical. Once you have their perspective, you can then work on organizing and coalescing the other points of view.

ACKNOWLEDGE FEELINGS

People will be talking about difficult things and it is important to acknowledge that. Simple acknowledgement such as “I hear you saying that it can be difficult when . . .” demonstrates empathy.

WRAPPING IT UP

At the end of the assessment, we recommend the use of two open-ended questions. These questions ask if there are any past experiences that people want to share that might be of benefit to planning for their young person, and if there is anything that they would like to add. This is a good time to see if there is anything “left over”—feelings or thoughts that they would like to share with you.

Take time to summarize with the individual and family those areas of strengths and of needs. Help them to get a “total picture” of the individual and family, and offer them the opportunity to change any ratings.

Take a few minutes to talk about what the next steps will be. Now you have information organized into a framework that moves into the next stage—planning.

So you might close with a statement such as: “OK, now the next step is a ‘brainstorm’ where we take this information that we’ve organized and start writing a plan—it is now much clearer which needs must be met and what we can build on. So let’s start . . .”

POTENTIALLY TRAUMATIC/ADVERSE CHILDHOOD EXPERIENCES (All Ages)

All of the traumatic/adverse childhood experiences items are static indicators. In other words, these items indicate whether or not a child/youth has experienced a particular trauma. If they have ever had one of these experiences it would always be rated in this section, even if the experience was not currently causing problems or distress in the child/youth's life. Thus, these items are not expected to change except in the case that the child/youth has a new trauma experience or a historical trauma is identified that was not previously known.

Rate these items within the child/youth's lifetime.

For the Potentially Traumatic/Adverse Childhood Experiences, use the following categories and action levels:

- |     |   |
|-----|---|
| No  | No evidence of any trauma of this type.   |
| Yes | Youth has had at least one incident, or multiple incidents, or chronic, on-going experience of this type of trauma. |

This item rates the youth's exposure to disruptions in caregiving involving separation from primary attachment figure(s) and/or attachment losses, potentially resulting in disruptions in attachment.

Questions to Consider	Ratings and Descriptions
◆ Has the youth ever lived apart from his/her parents/caregivers?	No There is no evidence that the youth has experienced disruptions in caregiving and/or attachment losses.
◆ What happened that resulting in the youth living apart from his/her parents/caregivers?	Yes Youth has been exposed to at least one disruption in caregiving familiar alternative caregivers or unknown caregivers (this includes placement in foster or other out-of-home care such as residential care facilities). Youth may or may not have had ongoing contact with primary attachment figure(s) during this disruption. Shift in caregiving may have been temporary or permanent.

Supplemental Information: Youth who have had placement changes, including stays in foster care, residential treatment facilities or juvenile justice settings, can be rated here. Short-term hospital stays or brief juvenile detention stays, during which the youth's caregiver remains the same, would not be rated on this item.

13. SYSTEM-INDUCED TRAUMA

This item describes the child/youth's experiences of trauma related to involvement in the public child, youth, and family serving systems, including child welfare, mental and physical health, and legal systems. These experiences include, but are not limited to, removal from the home, out-of-home placement and/or multiple placements and relationship disruption, multiple school placements, and disruption of familial and community relationships. This includes disasters such as a fire or earthquake or manmade disaster; car accident, plane crashes, or bombings; observing a caregiver who has been injured in a car accident or fire or watching a neighbor's house burn down; a disaster that caused significant harm or death to a loved one; or there is an ongoing impact or life disruption due to the disaster (e.g. caregiver loses job).

BEHAVIORAL/EMOTIONAL NEEDS

The ratings in this section identify the behavioral health needs of the child/youth. While the CANS is not a diagnostic tool, it is designed to be consistent with diagnostic communication. In the DSM, a diagnosis is defined by a set of symptoms that is associated with either dysfunction or distress. This is consistent with the ratings of '2' or '3' as described by the action levels below.

Please Note: Information on DSM-5 diagnoses is provided for informational and descriptive purposes only. The CANS is not intended to be used for diagnostic purposes, and a youth does not need to have a specific diagnosis or meet diagnostic criteria in order to be rated actionable (a '2' or '3' on an item).

Question to Consider for this Domain: What are the presenting social, emotional, and behavioral needs of the child/youth?

Rate the highest level from the past 30 days based on relevant information from all sources.

For the Behavioral/Emotional Needs Domain, use the following categories and action levels:

- 0 No current need; no need for action or intervention.
- 1 History or suspicion of problems; requires monitoring, watchful waiting, or preventive activities.
- 2 Problem is interfering with functioning; requires action or intervention to ensure that the need is addressed.
- 3 Problems are dangerous or disabling; requires immediate and/or intensive action.

15. PSYCHOSIS (THOUGHT DISORDER)

This item rates the symptoms of psychiatric disorders with a known neurological base, including schizophrenia spectrum and other psychotic disorders. The common symptoms of these disorders include hallucinations (i.e. experiencing things others do not experience), delusions (i.e. a false belief or an incorrect inference about reality that is firmly sustained despite the fact that nearly everybody thinks the belief is false or proof exists of its inaccuracy), disorganized thinking, and bizarre/idiosyncratic behavior.

Questions to Consider

- ◆ Does the child/youth exhibit behaviors that are unusual or difficult to understand?
- ◆ Does the child/youth engage in certain actions repeatedly?
- ◆ Are the unusual behaviors or repeated actions interfering with the child/youth's functioning?

Ratings and Descriptions

- 0 No current need; no need for action or intervention.
No evidence of psychotic symptoms. Both thought processes and content are within normal range.
- 1 Identified need requires monitoring, watchful waiting, or preventive activities.
Evidence of disruption in thought processes or content. Child/youth may be somewhat tangential in speech or evidence somewhat illogical thinking (age inappropriate). This also includes a child/youth with a history of hallucinations but none currently. Use this category for children/youth who are exhibiting some symptoms for schizophrenia spectrum and other psychotic disorders.
- 2 Action or intervention is required to ensure that the identified need is addressed; need is interfering with functioning.
Evidence of disturbance in thought process or content that may be impairing child/youth's functioning in at least one life domain. Child/youth may be somewhat delusional or have brief intermittent hallucinations. Speech may be at times quite tangential or illogical.
- 3 Problems are dangerous or disabling; requires immediate and/or intensive action.
Clear evidence of dangerous hallucinations, delusions, or bizarre behavior. Behavior might be associated with some form of psychotic disorder that places the child/youth or others at risk of physical harm.

PSYCHOSIS (THOUGHT DISORDER) continued

Supplemental information: While a growing body of evidence suggests that schizophrenia can begin as early as age nine, schizophrenia is more likely to begin to develop during the teenage years. Even young children can have psychotic disorders, most often characterized by hallucinations. Posttraumatic Stress Disorder secondary to sexual or physical abuse can be associated with visions of the abuser when children are falling asleep or waking up. These occurrences would not be rated as hallucinations unless they occur during normal waking hours.

16. DEPRESSION

Symptoms included in this item are irritable or depressed mood, social withdrawal, sleep disturbances, weight/eating disturbances, and loss of motivation, interest or pleasure in daily activities. This item can be used to rate symptoms of the Depressive Disorders as specified in DSM-5.

Questions to Consider	Ratings and Descriptions
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>◆ Is child/youth concerned about possible depression or chronic low mood and irritability?</li><li>◆ Has child/youth withdrawn from normal activities?</li><li>◆ Does the child/youth seem lonely or not interested in others?</li></ul>	0 No current need; no need for action or intervention. No evidence of problems with depression.
	1 Identified need requires monitoring, watchful waiting, or preventive activities. History or suspicion of depression or mild to moderate depression associated with a recent negative life event with minimal impact on life domain functioning. Brief duration of depression, irritability, or impairment of peer, family, or academic functioning that does not lead to gross avoidance behavior.
	2 Action or intervention is required to ensure that the identified need is addressed; need is interfering with functioning. Clear evidence of depression associated with either depressed mood or significant irritability. Depression has interfered significantly in child/youth's ability to function in at least one life domain.
	3 Problems are dangerous or disabling; requires immediate and/or intensive action. Clear evidence of disabling level of depression that makes it virtually impossible for the child/youth to function in any life domain. This rating is given to a child/youth with a severe level of depression. This would include a child/youth who stays at home or in bed all day due to depression or one whose emotional symptoms prevent any participation in school, friendship groups, or family life. Disabling forms of depressive diagnoses would be rated here. This level is used to indicate an extreme case of one of the disorders from the category listed above.

Supplemental information: Depression is a disorder that is thought to affect about 5% of the general population of the United States. It appears to be equally common in adolescents and adults. It might be somewhat less common among children, particularly young children. The main difference between depression in children and adolescents and depression in adults is that among children and adolescents it is thought that depression is as likely to come with an irritable mood as a depressed mood. In adults, a depressed mood is a cardinal symptom of depression. Youth may use illicit drugs or overuse prescription drugs to self-medicate. Ratings on this item can reflect symptoms of DSM-5 Depressive Disorders (Disruptive Mood Dysregulation Disorder, Major Depressive Disorder, Persistent Depressive Disorder (Dysthymia), etc.). Children in the depressive phase of Bipolar Disorder may be rated here.

17. ANXIETY

This item rates evidence of symptoms associated with DSM-5 Anxiety Disorders characterized by excessive fear and anxiety and related behavioral disturbances (including avoidance behaviors). Panic attacks can be a prominent type of fear response.

Questions to Consider <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>◆ Does the child/youth have any problems with anxiety or fearfulness?</li><li>◆ Is the child/youth avoiding normal activities out of fear?</li><li>◆ Does the child/youth act frightened or afraid?</li></ul>	Ratings and Descriptions
	0 No current need; no need for action or intervention. No evidence of anxiety symptoms.
	1 Identified need requires monitoring, watchful waiting, or preventive activities. There is a history, suspicion, or mild level of anxiety associated with a recent negative life event. This level is used to rate either a mild phobia or anxiety problem or a sub-threshold level of symptoms for the DSM-5 Anxiety Disorders.
	2 Action or intervention is required to ensure that the identified need is addressed; need is interfering with functioning. Clear evidence of anxiety associated with either anxious mood or significant fearfulness. Anxiety has interfered in the child/youth's ability to function in at least one life domain.

Supplemental information: As noted in the DSM-5, Anxiety Disorders share features of excessive fear (i.e. emotional response to real or perceived imminent threat) and anxiety (i.e. anticipation of future threat) and related behavioral disturbances (e.g., panic attacks, avoidance behaviors, restlessness, being easily fatigued, difficulty concentrating, irritable mood, muscle tension, sleep disturbance, etc.) which cause significant impairment of functioning or distress. Anxiety disorders differ from one another in the types of objects or situations that induce fear, anxiety, or avoidance behavior, and the associated cognitive ideation.

18. OPPOSITIONAL (Non-compliance with Authority)

This item rates the child/youth's relationship with authority figures. Generally, oppositional behavior is displayed in response to conditions set by a parent, teacher, or other authority figure with responsibility for and control over the child/youth.

Questions to Consider <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>◆ Does the child/youth follow their parents' rules?</li><li>◆ Have teachers or other adults reported that the child/youth does not follow rules or directions?</li><li>◆ Does the child/youth argue with adults when they try to get the child/youth to do something?</li><li>◆ Does the child/youth do things that they have been expressly told not to do?</li></ul>	Ratings and Descriptions
	0 No current need; no need for action or intervention. No evidence of oppositional behaviors.
	1 Identified need requires monitoring, watchful waiting, or preventive activities. There is a history or mild level of defiance towards authority figures that has not yet begun to cause functional impairment. Child/youth may occasionally talk back to teacher, parent/caregiver; there may be letters or calls from school.
	2 Action or intervention is required to ensure that the identified need is addressed; need is interfering with functioning. Clear evidence of oppositional and/or defiant behavior towards authority figures that is currently interfering with the child/youth's functioning in at least one life domain. Behavior causes emotional harm to others. A child/youth whose behavior meets the criteria for Oppositional Defiant Disorder in DSM-5 would be rated here.

Supplemental information: Oppositional behavior is different from conduct disorder in that the emphasis of the behavior is on non-compliance with authority rather than inflicting damage and hurting others.

19. CONDUCT

This item rates the degree to which a youth engages in behavior that is consistent with the symptoms of a Conduct Disorder.

Questions to Consider <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>◆ Is the youth seen as dishonest? How does the youth handle telling the truth/lies?</li><li>◆ Has the youth been part of any criminal behavior?</li><li>◆ Has the youth ever shown violent or threatening behavior towards others?</li><li>◆ Has the youth ever tortured animals?</li><li>◆ Does the youth disregard or is unconcerned about the feelings of others (lack empathy)?</li></ul>	Ratings and Descriptions
	0 No current need; no need for action or intervention. No evidence of serious violations of others or laws.
	1 Identified need requires monitoring, watchful waiting, or preventive activities. There is a history or suspicion of problems associated with antisocial behavior including but not limited to lying, stealing, manipulation of others, acts of sexual aggression, or violence towards people, property or animals. The youth may have some difficulties in school and home behavior. Problems are recognizable but not notably deviant for age, sex and community.
	2 Action or intervention is required to ensure that the identified need is addressed; need is interfering with functioning. Clear evidence of antisocial behavior including but not limited to lying, stealing, manipulating others, sexual aggression, violence towards people, property, or animals. A youth rated at this level will likely meet criteria for a diagnosis of Conduct Disorder.
	3 Problems are dangerous or disabling; requires immediate and/or intensive action. Evidence of a severe level of conduct problems, as described above, that places the youth or community at significant risk of physical harm due to these behaviors. This rating indicates a youth with a severe conduct disorder. This could include frequent episodes of unprovoked, planned aggressive or other anti-social behavior.

Supplemental Information: These symptoms include antisocial behaviors like theft/shoplifting, pathological lying, deceitfulness, vandalism, cruelty to animals, assault and/or serious violations of rules. This dimension includes the symptoms of Conduct Disorder as specified in DSM-5. Estimates of the prevalence of conduct disorders range from 2% to 10%. Prevalence rates rise from childhood to adolescence and are higher among males than females. The course of conduct disorder is variable, with a majority of cases remitting in adulthood. Early-onset type, however, predicts a worse prognosis and an increased risk of criminal behavior and substance-related disorders in adulthood.

20. ATTENTION

Problems with attention and staying on task would be rated here.

Questions to Consider <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>◆ Can the youth stay on task?</li><li>◆ Is the youth's inability to stay on task interfering with school?</li></ul>	Ratings and Descriptions
	0 No current need; no need for action or intervention. This rating is used to indicate a youth that is able to pay attention and stay on task at a level consistent with age and developmental level.
	1 Identified need requires monitoring, watchful waiting, or preventive activities. This rating is used to indicate a youth with evidence of problems with attention. The youth may occasionally have difficulty staying on task for an age appropriate time period.
	2 Action or intervention is required to ensure that the identified need is addressed; need is interfering with functioning. This rating is used to indicate a youth with evidence of problems with attention that impact their functioning. The youth frequently has difficulty staying on task for an age appropriate time period.
	3 Problems are dangerous or disabling; requires immediate and/or intensive action. This rating is used to indicate a youth with evidence of major problems with attention. The youth is unable to stay on task for an age appropriate time period.

21. IMPULSIVITY/HYPERACTIVITY

Problems with impulse control and impulsive behaviors, including motoric disruptions, are rated here. This includes behavioral symptoms associated with Attention-Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD) and Impulse-Control Disorders as indicated in the DSM-5. Children/youth with impulse problems tend to engage in behavior without thinking, regardless of the consequences. This can include compulsions to engage in gambling, violent behavior (e.g., road rage), sexual behavior, fire-starting or stealing.

Questions to Consider

- ◆ Is the child/youth unable to sit still for any length of time?
- ◆ Does child/youth have trouble paying attention for more than a few minutes?
- ◆ Is the child/youth able to control themselves (behavior, talking)?

Ratings and Descriptions

- 0 No current need; no need for action or intervention.
No evidence of symptoms of loss of control of behavior.
- 1 Identified need requires monitoring, watchful waiting, or preventive activities.
There is a history or evidence of impulsivity evident in action or thought that place the child/youth at risk of future functioning difficulties. The child/youth may exhibit limited impulse control, e.g., child/youth may yell out answers to questions or may have difficulty waiting their turn. Some motor difficulties may be present as well, such as pushing or shoving others.
- 2 Action or intervention is required to ensure that the identified need is addressed; need is interfering with functioning.
Clear evidence of problems with impulsive, distractible, or hyperactive behavior that interferes with the child/youth's functioning in at least one life domain. This indicates a child/youth with moderate levels of impulsive behavior who may represent a significant management problem. A child/youth who often intrudes on others and often exhibits aggressive impulses would be rated here.
- 3 Problems are dangerous or disabling; requires immediate and/or intensive action.
Clear evidence of a dangerous level of hyperactivity and/or impulsive behavior that can place the child/youth at risk of physical harm. This indicates a child/youth with frequent and significant levels of impulsive behavior that carries considerable safety risk (e.g., running into the street, dangerous driving or bike riding). The child/youth may be impulsive on a nearly continuous basis. They endanger self or others without thinking.

Supplemental Information: This item is designed to allow for the description of the child/youth's ability to control their own behavior, including impulsiveness, hyperactivity and/or distractibility. If a child/youth has been diagnosed with Attention-Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD) and/or disorders of impulse control, these may be rated here. Children/youth with impulse problems tend to engage in behavior without thinking, regardless of the consequences. A '3' on this item is reserved for those whose lack of control of behavior has placed them in physical danger during the period of the rating. Consider the child/youth's environment when rating (e.g., bored kids tend to be impulsive kids). ADHD is characterized by either frequently displayed symptoms of inattention (e.g., difficulty sustaining attention, not seeming to listen when spoken to directly, losing items, forgetful in daily activities, etc.) or hyperactivity or impulsivity (e.g., fidgety, difficulty playing quietly, talking excessively, difficulty waiting his or her turn, etc.) to a degree that it causes functioning problems.

22. ANGER CONTROL

This item captures the child/youth's ability to identify and manage their anger when frustrated.

Questions to Consider ◆ How does the child/youth control their emotions? ◆ Does child/youth get upset or frustrated easily? ◆ Does child/youth overreact if someone criticizes or rejects them? ◆ Does the child/youth seem to have dramatic mood swings?	Ratings and Descriptions
	0	No current need; no need for action or intervention. No evidence of any significant anger control problems.
	1	Identified need requires monitoring, watchful waiting, or preventive activities. History, suspicion of, or evidence of some problems with controlling anger. Child/youth may sometimes become verbally aggressive when frustrated. Peers and family are aware of and may attempt to avoid stimulating angry outbursts.
	2	Action or intervention is required to ensure that the identified need is addressed; need is interfering with functioning. Youth's difficulties with controlling his/her anger are impacting functioning in at least one life domain. Their temper has resulted in significant trouble with peers, family and/or school. Anger may be associated with physical violence. Others are likely quite aware of anger potential.
	3	Problems are dangerous or disabling; requires immediate and/or intensive action. Youth's temper or anger control problem is dangerous. They frequently get into fights that are often physical. Others likely fear them.

23. SUBSTANCE USE*

This item describes problems related to the use of alcohol and illegal drugs, the misuse of prescription medications, and the inhalation of any chemical or synthetic substance by a youth. This rating is consistent with DSM-5 Substance-Related and Addictive Disorders.

Questions to Consider ◆ Has the youth used alcohol or drugs on more than an experimental basis? ◆ Do you suspect that the youth may have an alcohol or drug use problem? ◆ Has the youth been in a recovery program for the use of alcohol or illegal drugs?	Ratings and Descriptions
	0	No current need; no need for action or intervention. Youth has no notable substance use history or difficulties at the present time.
	1	Identified need requires monitoring, watchful waiting, or preventive activities. Youth has substance use problems that might occasionally interfere with their daily life (e.g., intoxication, loss of money, reduced work/school performance, parental concern). This rating is also used to reflect a significant history of substance use problems without evidence of current problems related to use.
	2	Action or intervention is required to ensure that the identified need is addressed; need is interfering with functioning. Youth has a substance use problem that consistently interferes with the ability to function optimally, but does not completely preclude functioning in an unstructured setting.
	3	Problems are dangerous or disabling; requires immediate and/or intensive action. Youth has a substance use problem that represents complications to functional issues that may result in danger to self, public safety issues, or the need for detoxification of the youth. Immediate and/or intensive interventions are indicated.

*A rating of 1, 2 or 3 on this item triggers the completion of the Substance Use Module.

Supplemental Information: As noted in the DSM-5, the essential feature of a substance use disorder is a cluster of cognitive, behavioral, and physiological symptoms indicating that the individual continues using the substance despite significant substance-related problems including impaired control, social impairment, risky use, and physiological symptoms.

24. EATING DISTURBANCE

This item rates problems with eating, including disturbances in body image, refusal to maintain normal body weight, recurrent episodes of binge eating, and hoarding food.

Questions to Consider

- ◆ How does the youth feel about their body?
- ◆ Does youth seem to be overly concerned about their weight?

Ratings and Descriptions

- 0 No current need; no need for action or intervention.
No evidence of eating disturbances.
- 1 Identified need requires monitoring, watchful waiting, or preventive activities.
There is a history, suspicion or mild level of eating disturbance. This could include some preoccupation with weight, calorie intake, or body size or type when of normal weight or below weight. This could also include some binge eating patterns.
- 2 Action or intervention is required to ensure that the identified need is addressed; need is interfering with functioning.
Eating disturbance impairs youth's functioning in at least one life domain. This could include a more intense preoccupation with weight gain or becoming fat when underweight, restrictive eating habits or excessive exercising in order to maintain below normal weight, and/or emaciated body appearance. This level could also include more notable binge eating episodes that are followed by compensatory behaviors in order to prevent weight gain (e.g., vomiting, use of laxatives, excessive exercising). The youth may meet criteria for a DSM-5 Feeding and Eating Disorders (including Anorexia Nervosa, Bulimia Nervosa, Avoidant/Restrictive Food Intake Disorder, etc.). Food hoarding also would be rated here.
- 3 Problems are dangerous or disabling; requires immediate and/or intensive action.
Youth's eating disturbance is dangerous or puts their health at risk. This could include significantly low weight where hospitalization is required or excessive binge-purge behaviors (at least once per day).

Supplemental Information: Anorexia Nervosa is characterized by: refusal to maintain a body weight that is at or above the minimum normal weight for age and height, intense fear of gaining weight or becoming fat, denying the seriousness of having a low body weight, or having a distorted image of your appearance or shape. Repeated bingeing and getting rid of the extra calories from bingeing by vomiting, excessive exercise, fasting, or misuse of laxatives, diuretics, enemas or other medications characterize Bulimia Nervosa.

25. BEHAVIORAL REGRESSION

This item describes shifts in previously adaptive functioning evidenced in regressions in behaviors or physiological functioning.

- 2 Action or intervention is required to ensure that the identified need is addressed; need is interfering with functioning.
Child/youth with regressions in age-level of behavior that impact functioning, including: loss of ability to engage with peers, stopping play or exploration in environment that was previously evident, or occasional bedwetting.
- 3 Problems are dangerous or disabling; requires immediate and/or intensive action.
Child/youth with more significant regressions in behaviors in an earlier age that place them at risk as demonstrated by changes in speech or loss of bowel or bladder control.

26. SOMATIZATION

Symptoms in this item include the presence of recurrent physical complaints without apparent physical cause or conversion-like phenomena (e.g., pseudoseizures).

Questions to Consider

- ◆ Has the child/youth had a complete physical exam?

This could include more persistent physical symptoms without a medical cause or the presence of several different physical symptoms (e.g., stomach problems, headaches, backaches). This child/youth may meet criteria for a somatoform disorder. Additionally, the child/youth could manifest any conversion symptoms here (e.g., pseudo-seizures, paralysis).
- 3 Problems are dangerous or disabling; requires immediate and/or intensive action.
Child/youth with somatic symptoms (significant and varied symptomatic disturbance without medical cause) causing significant disturbance in school or social functioning.

27. ATTACHMENT DIFFICULTIES

This item should be rated within the context of the child/youth's significant parental or caregiver relationships.

Questions to Consider

- ◆ Does the child/youth struggle with separating from caregiver?

- 1 Identified need requires monitoring, watchful waiting, or preventive activities.
Some history or evidence of insecurity in the caregiver-youth relationship. Caregiver may have difficulty accurately reading child/youth's bids for attention and nurturance; may be inconsistent in response; or may be occasionally intrusive. Child/youth may have minor difficulties with appropriate physical/emotional boundaries with others.
- 2 Action or intervention is required to ensure that the identified need is addressed; need is interfering with functioning.
Problems with attachment that interfere with child/youth's functioning in at least one life domain and require intervention. Caregiver may consistently misinterpret child/youth cues, act in an overly intrusive way, or ignore/avoid youth bids for attention/nurturance. Child/youth may have ongoing difficulties with separation, may consistently avoid contact with caregivers, and have ongoing difficulties with physical or emotional boundaries with others.
- 3 Problems are dangerous or disabling; requires immediate and/or intensive action.
Child/youth is unable to form attachment relationships with others (e.g., chronic dismissive/avoidant/detached behavior in care giving relationships) OR child/youth presents with diffuse emotional/physical boundaries leading to indiscriminate

- 3 attachment with others. Child/youth is considered at ongoing risk due to the nature of their attachment behaviors. Child/youth may have experienced chronic, inadequate care or significant early separation from or loss of caregiver, or may have individual vulnerabilities (e.g., mental health, developmental disabilities) that interfere with the formation of positive attachment relationships.

28. ADJUSTMENT TO TRAUMA

This item describes the youth's reaction to any of a variety of traumatic experiences—such as emotional, physical, or sexual abuse, disasters, neglect, separation from family members, witnessing violence in their home or community, or victimization or murder of family members or close friends.

Questions to Consider

- ◆ What was the youth's trauma?
- ◆ How is it connected to the current issue(s)?
- ◆ What are the individual's coping skills?
- ◆ Who is supporting the youth?

Ratings and Descriptions

- 0 No current need; no need for action or intervention.
No evidence that youth has experienced a traumatic life event, or youth has adjusted well to traumatic/adverse experiences.
- 1 Identified need requires monitoring, watchful waiting, or preventive activities.
The youth has experienced a traumatic event and there are some changes in their behavior that are controlled by caregivers. These symptoms are expected to ease with the passage of time and therefore no current intervention is warranted. Youth may be in the process of recovering from a more extreme reaction to a traumatic experience, which may require a need to watch these symptoms or engage in preventive action.
- 2 Action or intervention is required to ensure that the identified need is addressed; need is interfering with functioning.
Clear evidence of adjustment problems associated with traumatic life event(s). Symptoms can vary widely and may include sleeping or eating disturbances, regressive behavior, behavior problems or problems with attachment. Adjustment is interfering with youth's functioning in at least one life domain. Older children may have all of the above as well as behavior symptoms, tantrums, and withdrawn behavior.
- 3 Problems are dangerous or disabling; requires immediate and/or intensive action.
Clear evidence of debilitating level of trauma symptoms that makes it virtually impossible for the youth to function in any life domain including symptoms such as flashbacks, nightmares, significant anxiety, intrusive thoughts, and/or re-experiencing trauma (consistent with PTSD).

Supplemental Information: This is one item where speculation about why a person is displaying a certain behavior is considered: There should be an inferred link between the trauma and behavior.

- ◆ If a youth has not experienced any trauma or if their traumatic experiences no longer impact their functioning, then they would be rated a '0'.
- ◆ A '1' would indicate a youth who is making progress in adapting or recovering from a trauma(s) or a youth who experienced a trauma(s) where the impact on their well-being is not yet known and/or mild problems are present that we suspect are related to the trauma (watchful waiting).
- ◆ A '2' would indicate a moderate level of symptoms related to the youth's history of trauma exposure. Problems at this degree may meet criterion for a DSM diagnosis. Such diagnoses may be trauma related such as Posttraumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) or related to one or more other diagnoses.
- ◆ A '3' indicates severe symptoms requiring immediate attention. There is likely more than one DSM diagnosis and/or another trauma related disorder present (e.g. PTSD, complex trauma).
- ◆ A youth who meets diagnostic criteria for a Trauma-Related Adjustment Disorder, Posttraumatic Stress Disorder and other Trauma- and Stressor-Related Disorders from DSM-5 as a result of their exposure to traumatic/adverse childhood experiences would be rated a '2' or '3' on this item.

Note: This item should be rated '1,' '2' or '3' for youth who have any type of symptoms/needs that are related to their exposure to a traumatic/adverse event.

This can also include difficulties with regulation of body functions, including disturbances in sleeping, eating, and elimination; over-reactivity or under-reactivity to touch and sounds; and physical or somatic complaints. This can also include difficulties with describing emotional or bodily states. The child/youth's behavior likely reflects their difficulty with affective and physiological regulation, especially for younger children. This can be demonstrated as excessive and chronic silly behavior, excessive body movements, difficulties regulating sleep/wake cycle, and inability to fully engage in activities.

Questions to Consider

- ◆ Does the child/youth have reactions that seem out of proportion (larger or smaller than is appropriate) to the situation?

The child/youth may also exhibit tightly contained emotions with intense outbursts under stress. Alternately, the child/youth may be characterized by extreme lethargy, loss of motivation or drive, and no ability to concentrate or sustain engagement in activities (i.e. emotionally "shut down"). The child/youth may have more persistent and severe difficulties regulating sleep/wake cycle, eating patterns, or have elimination problems.

LIFE FUNCTIONING DOMAIN

Life domains are the different arenas of social interaction found in the lives of children, youth and their families. This domain rates how they are functioning in the individual, family, peer, school, and community realms. This section is rated using the needs scale and therefore will highlight any struggles the youth and family are experiencing.

Question to Consider for this Domain: How is the child/youth functioning in individual, family, peer, school, and community realms?

Rate the highest level from the past 30 days based on relevant information from all sources.

For the Life Functioning Domain, use the following categories and action levels:

- 0 No current need; no need for action or intervention.
- 1 History or suspicion of problems; requires monitoring, watchful waiting, or preventive activities.
- 2 Problem is interfering with functioning; requires action or intervention to ensure that the need is addressed.
- 3 Problems are dangerous or disabling; requires immediate and/or intensive action.

30. FAMILY FUNCTIONING

This item evaluates and rates the child/youth's relationships with those who are in their family. It is recommended that the description of family should come from the child/youth's perspective (i.e. who the child/youth describes as their family). In the absence of this information, consider biological and adoptive relatives and their significant others with whom the child/youth is still in contact. Foster families should only be considered if they have made a significant commitment to the child/youth. For children/youth involved with child welfare, family refers to the person(s) fulfilling the permanency plan. When rating this item, take into account the relationship the child/youth has with their family as well as the relationship of the family as a whole.

Supplemental Information: When the child/youth is potentially returning to biological parents, this item is rated independent of the Family Functioning item. When the child/youth lives with biological or adoptive parents, this item is rated the same as the Family Functioning item. Hospitals, shelters and detention centers do not count as "living situations." If a child/youth is presently in one of these places, rate the previous living situation.

STRENGTHS DOMAIN

This domain describes the assets of the child/youth that can be used to advance healthy development. It is important to remember that strengths are NOT the opposite of needs. Increasing a child/youth’s strengths while also addressing their behavioral/emotional needs leads to better functioning, and better outcomes, than does focusing just on the child/youth’s needs. Identifying areas where strengths can be built is a significant element of service planning. In these items the ‘best’ assets and resources available to the child/youth are rated based on how accessible and useful those strengths are. These are the only items that use the Strength Rating Scale with action levels.

Question to Consider for this Domain: What are the child/youth’s assets that can be used in treatment planning to support healthy development?

Rate the highest level from the past 30 days based on relevant information from all sources

For the Strengths Domain, use the following categories and action levels:

- 0 Well-developed or centerpiece strength; may be used as a protective factor and a centerpiece of a strength-based plan.
- 1 Useful strength is evident but requires some effort to maximize the strength. Strength might be used and built upon in treatment.
- 2 Strengths have been identified but require significant strength building efforts before they can be effectively utilized as part of a plan.
- 3 An area in which no current strength is identified; efforts are needed to identify potential strengths.

41. FAMILY STRENGTHS

This item refers to the presence of a sense of family identity as well as love and communication among family members. Even families who are struggling often have a firm foundation that consists of a positive sense of family and strong underlying love and commitment to each other. These are the constructs this strength is intended to identify. As with Family Functioning, the definition of family comes from the child/youth’s perspective (i.e., who the child/youth describes as their family). If this information is not known, then we recommend a definition of family that includes biological/adoptive relatives and their significant others with whom the child/ youth is still in contact.

Do not rate residential placement as "family."

CULTURAL FACTORS DOMAIN

These items identify linguistic or cultural issues for which service providers need to make accommodations (e.g., provide interpreter, finding therapist who speaks family’s primary language, and/or ensure that a child/youth in placement has the opportunity to participate in cultural rituals associated with their cultural identity). Items in the Cultural Factors Domain describe difficulties that children and youth may experience or encounter as a result of their membership in any cultural group, and/or because of the relationship between members of that group and members of the dominant society.

Health care disparities are differences in health care quality, affordability, access, utilization and outcomes between groups. Culture in this domain is described broadly to include cultural groups that are racial, ethnic or religious, or are based on age, sexual orientation, gender identity, socio-economic status and/or geography. Literature exploring issues of health care disparity states that race and/or ethnic group membership may be a primary influence on health outcomes.

The cultural issues in this domain should be considered in relation to the impact they are having on the life of the individual when rating these items and creating a treatment or service plan.

Question to Consider for this Domain: How does the child/youth’s membership in a particular cultural group impact their stress and wellbeing?

Rate the highest level from the past 30 days based on relevant information from all sources.

For the Cultural Factors Domain, use the following categories and action levels:

- 0 No current need; no need for action or intervention.
- 1 History or suspicion of problems; requires monitoring, watchful waiting, or preventive activities.
- 2 Problem is interfering with functioning; requires action or intervention to ensure that the need is addressed.
- 3 Problems are dangerous or disabling; requires immediate and/or intensive action.

Child/youth and/or family speak or read the primary language where the child/youth or family lives, but potential communication problems exist because of limited vocabulary or comprehension of the nuances of the language.</li> <li>2 Action or intervention is required to ensure that the identified need is addressed; need is interfering with functioning. Child/youth and/or significant family members do not speak the primary language where the child/youth or family lives. Translator or family’s native language speaker is needed for successful intervention; a qualified individual(s) can be identified within natural supports.</li> <li>3 Problems are dangerous or disabling; requires immediate and/or intensive action. Generally, body piercings and tattoos are not considered a form of self-injury. Repeatedly piercing or scratching one's skin would be included. Supplemental Information: Any behavior that the youth engages in that has significant potential to place youth in danger of physical harm would be rated here. This item provides an opportunity to identify other potentially self-destructive behaviors (e.g., reckless driving, subway surfing, unprotected sex, substance use, etc.). If the youth frequently exhibits significantly poor judgment that has the potential to place them in danger, but has yet to actually do so, a rating of '1' might be used to indicate the need for prevention. ### 66. INTENTIONAL MISBEHAVIOR

This item describes intentional behaviors that a child/youth engages in to force others to administer consequences. This item should reflect problematic social behaviors (socially unacceptable behavior for the culture and community in which the child/youth lives) that put the child/youth at some risk of consequences. It is not necessary that the child/youth be able to articulate that the purpose of their misbehavior is to provide reactions/consequences to rate this item. There is always, however, a benefit to the child/youth resulting from this unacceptable behavior even if it does not appear this way on the face of it (e.g., child/youth feels more protected, more in control, less anxious because of the sanctions). This item should not be rated for children/youth who engage in such behavior solely due to developmental delays.

Questions to Consider ◆ Does the youth intentionally do or say things to upset others or get in trouble with people in positions of authority or (e.g., parents or teachers)? ◆ Has the youth engaged in behavior that was insulting, rude or obnoxious and which resulted in sanctions for the youth such as suspension, job dismissal, etc.? ## INTENTIONAL MISBEHAVIOR continued

Supplemental Information: This item refers to a child/youth engaging in inappropriate behaviors that force adults to administer consequences to them. The child/youth may be intentionally misbehaving in order to force the adult to administer consequences to them. Examples would include a youth who intentionally tests his foster parents to see whether they will kick him out of their home.

- ◆ Children/youth generally know the likely sanctions as a result of their behavior. Sometimes they will pick one sanction over another (e.g., kicked out of school rather than failing academically).
- ◆ In order to rate a '2' or '3', there must be clear evidence that the child/youth is intentionally misbehaving (rather than not having control of their behavior; this would be rated Impulsivity/Hyperactivity) AND the child/youth is trying to receive a specific consequence.
- ◆ If the child/youth has received, or is in danger of receiving, a consequence, a rating of '3' would be appropriate.
- ◆ If it is not clear that the behavior is intentional, or what the child/youth stands to gain from getting into trouble, or if it is not directed at an adult, a rating of '1' for suspicion would be recommended.
- ◆ A '1' would also be used for a child/youth seeking attention.

CAREGIVER RESOURCES & NEEDS DOMAIN

The items in this section represent caregivers' potential areas of need while simultaneously highlighting the areas in which the caregivers can be a resource for the child/youth. In general, it is recommended that the caregiver(s) with whom the child/youth is currently living be rated. If the child/youth has been placed temporarily, then focus on the caregiver to whom the child/youth will be returned. If it is a long-term foster care placement, then rate that caregiver(s). If the child/youth is currently in a congregate care setting, such as a hospital, shelter, group home, or residential treatment center it would be more appropriate to rate the community caregivers where the child/youth will be placed upon discharge from congregate care. It is advised to focus on the planned permanent caregiver in this section. The caregiver rated should be noted in the record.

For situations in which a child/youth has multiple caregivers it is recommended to rate based on the needs of the set of caregivers as they affect the child/youth. For example, the supervisory capacity of a father who is not involved in monitoring or disciplining of a child/youth may not be relevant to the ratings. Alternatively, if the father is responsible for the children because he works the first shift and the mother works the second shift, then his skills should be factored into the ratings of the child/youth's supervision.

Question to Consider for this Domain: What are the resources and needs of the child/youth's caregiver(s) that are impacting their ability to provide care?

Rate the highest level from the past 30 days based on relevant information from all sources.

For the Caregiver Resources & Needs Domain, use the following categories and action levels:

- 1 Identified need requires monitoring, watchful waiting, or preventive activities. The caregiver may require help or resources in this area.
- 2 Action or intervention is required to ensure that the identified need or risk behavior is addressed, as it is currently interfering with the caregiver's ability to parent or support the child/youth.
- 3 Identified need requires immediate or intensive action, as it is currently preventing the caregiver from effectively parenting or supporting the child/youth.

No evidence of oppositional behaviors. <hr/> 1 Identified need requires monitoring, watchful waiting, or preventive activities. There is a history or evidence of mild level of defiance towards authority figures that has not yet begun to cause functional impairment. Child/youth may occasionally talk back to teacher, parent/caregiver; there may be letters or calls from school. <hr/> 2 Action or intervention is required to ensure that the identified need is addressed; need is interfering with functioning. Clear evidence of oppositional and/or defiant behavior towards authority figures that is currently interfering with the child/youth's functioning in at least one life domain. Behavior causes emotional harm to others. No evidence of attachment problems. Caregiver-child relationship is characterized by mutual satisfaction of needs and child's development of a sense of security and trust. Caregiver is able to respond to youth cues in a consistent, appropriate manner, and child seeks age-appropriate contact with caregiver for both nurturing and safety needs. <hr/> 1 Identified need requires monitoring, watchful waiting, or preventive activities. Some history or evidence of insecurity in the caregiver-child relationship. Caregiver may have difficulty accurately reading child's bids for attention and nurturance; may be inconsistent in response; or may be occasionally intrusive. Youth may have some problems with separation (e.g., anxious/clingy behaviors in the absence of obvious cues of danger) or may avoid contact with caregiver in age-inappropriate way. Child may have minor difficulties with appropriate physical/emotional boundaries with others. <hr/> 2 Action or intervention is required to ensure that the identified need is addressed; need is interfering with functioning. Problems with attachment that interfere with child's functioning in at least one life domain and require intervention. Caregiver may consistently misinterpret youth cues, act in an overly intrusive way, or ignore/avoid child's bids for attention/nurturance. ATTACHMENT DIFFICULTIES continued

- 3 Problems are dangerous or disabling; requires immediate and/or intensive action. Child is unable to form attachment relationships with others (e.g., chronic dismissive/avoidant/detached behavior in care giving relationships) OR child presents with diffuse emotional/physical boundaries leading to indiscriminate attachment with others. Child is considered at ongoing risk due to the nature of their attachment behaviors. Child may have experienced significant early separation from or loss of caregiver, or have experienced chronic inadequate care from early caregivers, or child may have individual vulnerabilities (e.g., mental health, developmental disabilities) that interfere with the formation of positive attachment relationships.

Supplemental Information: DSM-5 Reactive Attachment Disorder and Disinhibited Social Engagement Disorder criteria are noted below. Social neglect, or the absence of adequate caregiving during childhood, is a part of both disorders.

Reactive Attachment Disorder: An internalizing disorder with depressive symptoms and withdrawn behavior.

3. Episodes of unexplained irritability, sadness, or fearfulness that are evident even during nonthreatening interactions with adult caregivers.

Disinhibited Social Engagement Disorder: An externalizing disorder marked by disinhibited behavior.

A pattern of behavior in which a child actively approaches and interacts with unfamiliar adults and exhibits at least two of the following:

1. Reduced or absent reticence in approaching and interacting with unfamiliar adults.
2. Overly familiar verbal or physical behavior (that is not consistent with culturally sanctioned and with age-appropriate social boundaries).
3. Diminished or absent checking back with adult caregiver after venturing away, even in unfamiliar settings.
4. Willingness to go off with an unfamiliar adult with little or no hesitation.

EC6. ADJUSTMENT TO TRAUMA

The child/youth has experienced a traumatic event and there are some changes in their behavior that are managed or supported by caregivers. These symptoms are expected to ease with the passage of time and therefore no current intervention is warranted. Child/youth may be in the process of recovering from a more extreme reaction to a traumatic experience, which may require a need to watch these symptoms or engage in preventive action. <hr/> 2 Action or intervention is required to ensure that the identified need is addressed; need is interfering with functioning. Clear evidence of adjustment problems associated with traumatic life event(s). Symptoms can vary widely and may include sleeping or eating disturbances, regressive behavior, behavior problems or problems with attachment. Adjustment is interfering with child/youth's functioning in at least one life domain. <hr/> 3 Problems are dangerous or disabling; requires immediate and/or intensive action. Clear evidence of debilitating level of trauma symptoms that makes it virtually impossible for the child to function in any life domain including symptoms such as flashbacks, nightmares, significant anxiety, intrusive thoughts, and/or re-experiencing trauma (consistent with PTSD).
